Warfare Again Carried To British Isles

GERMAN PLANE SHOT DOWN OFF ENGLISH COAST

Enemy Bombers Soar Over

Admiralty Speeds Measures

Of Explosives

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Warfare on sea and in the air came again to the British Isles today when a German plane was shot down on England's east coast and four enemy bombers soared over Scotland.

At the same time, the British trawler "Seasweeper" was sunk by enemy action—the fourteenth vessel to go to the bottom of English waters since Saturday night. The crew was rescued.

Soon after a German bombing plane was seen over Sutherlandshire in northern Scotland, three others flew over the Orkney Islands. The air raid alarm was sounded, but there was no gunfire and no bombs were dropped.

R. A. F. Victorious
The victory over the German raiding plane was announced officially by the Air Ministry, which issued this communique:

"An enemy aircraft approached the east coast this morning. It was engaged and shot down by R. A. F. fighter aircraft."

At the same time the British Admiralty announced a set-back in its efforts to clear nearby waters of deadly mine clusters which have played havoc with merchant shipping.

A communique stated that the mine-sweeping trawler Mastiff had been lost after striking a "German mine."

The first hint Britons received of renewed aerial activities, which followed yesterday's German reconnaissance raids up and down the coast and even over London, was the sound of machine gun fire in the southeast coastal region of Kent.

See Air Battle
The rattle of the guns brought residents of the area rushing to the street, intent upon witnessing an air battle if one developed.

All they saw, however, was a squadron of British fighting planes high overhead.

An hour later came the announcement that the German plane had been brought down.

The British admiralty speeded its counter-measures to sweep nearby shipping lanes of mine clusters which London authorities insisted were sown by Germany following "defeat" of the Reich's submarine campaign.

Naval technicians said that Britain possessed fully developed "anti-dotes" to cope with the menace of drifting "Magnetic" mines.

DOZEN INDICTMENTS ARE RETURNED BY COUNTY GRAND JURY

The Pickaway County Grand Jury completed its session Tuesday morning after considering 16 cases in which it returned 12 indictments, three secret, and ignored four cases.

Jurors had hoped to complete their session Monday evening but three cases were carried over for consideration Tuesday morning.

HIS father shot and mortally wounded when he resisted a bandit robbing his Chicago grocery store, Pasquale Adante, 13, picked up the fallen man's gun and shot the killer three times. Bandit fled but later surrendered because of his wounds.

RAIN PROVES BOON TO WHEAT CROP OF COUNTY

Pickaway County farmers wore broad smiles Tuesday as the steady rain continued giving their wheat crop a boost needed before winter weather begins.

Rain amounting to .55 of an inch was reported in the 24 hours preceding 8 a. m. Tuesday. This increases the total for the month to about one inch, one third the normal for the month. The growth of wheat has been delayed by the dry weather during the late fall and early winter. The rain is a benefit also to corn husking, preventing the loss on fodder.

Highest temperature recorded Monday was 44 degrees. Lowest during the night was 37. Cloudy and cold weather was forecast for late Tuesday with warmer temperatures Wednesday.

OUT OF THE WAY, GERMANY WARNS NEUTRALS AT SEA

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—Warning that Germany may intensify her naval warfare against Great Britain, Captain Mohr, naval expert for the Lokal Anzeiger, today asserted that neutrals' interests cannot stand in the Reich's way.

Germany, he wrote, can be guided only by military considerations in the conflict with Britain.

"Private interests of third and unconnected parties cannot be considered," Capt. Mohr said.

"It can even be expected that German sea warfare against England will be intensified further—to the exact extent that British violations of international law warrant."

RENEW ATTACK ON FINNS

MOSCOW, Nov. 21.—Soviet newspapers today suddenly renewed their assaults on Finland with the admonition that the Baltic fleet is ready to act.

In a tribute to the fleet's commanders, the papers said:

"No obstacles will affect the Soviet's determination to establish a firm peace in the Gulf of Finland."

"The red banner of the Baltic fleet is ready at any moment to carry out with honor and glory any order."

STAND AGAINST NEW DEAL

Frank Buck Gives Reasons
Why Amendments Will Face Hurdles

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Proposals for extensive liberalization and extension of the Social Security system, widely advocated in New Deal circles, were opposed today by a group of members of the House Ways and Means Committee.

A tentative agreement has been reached by many of the leaders of this committee, which initiates Social Security and tax legislation, to oppose revision of the law in the January session of Congress.

Expansion of the system to provide health insurance, disability benefits, sale of annuities to citizens and similar proposals, must await future consideration, probably after the 1940 election, committee members said.

Revision Opposed

"I have talked to several members of the committee who do not think that extensive revision of the social security act should be considered in the coming session," said Rep. Frank Buck (D) California.

"In the first place, we practically rewrote the act in the last session. The committee worked for months on this revision. In the second place, the important amendments adopted by congress do not become effective until January 1."

"It is the feeling of committee members with whom I have talked that we should see how they work out before we take further action. Personally, I am opposed to further tinkering with the law at present. I am for improvement, but would await the results of the changes just made."

Buck suggested that relief for seamen, urged by President Roosevelt as a result of unemployment created by the laying up American ships under the neutrality law, may be handled in a separate bill. Buck sponsored an amendment in the last session which brought seamen into the old age annuity system.

The proposal of Senator Wagner (D) New York, to have the government sell old age annuities to individuals was endorsed by Buck, but only for future consideration.

JAP SHIP SUNK; BRITAIN SEIZES GERMAN EXPORTS

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Second large neutral passenger vessel to be sunk in British waters within the last 72 hours, the Japanese luxury liner Terukuni Maru went down off the east coast of England today as Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announced plans to seize German exports in retaliation for alleged indiscriminate mine-laying.

Casualty list of the latest sinking which brought to fifteen the number of vessels to go down off Britain since Saturday, was not known immediately.

Last Saturday night, the Dutch passenger liner Simon Bolivar sank in the English channel with a loss of almost 100 lives. British authorities blamed German mines for this disaster, and in announcing the retaliatory measure today, Chamberlain said:

"Seizure of exports of German origin or ownership on the high seas is warranted, owing to the many violations of international law and the ruthless brutality of German methods."

WILL HITLER bomb England? With his latest peace offer refused will the German air force soon lash out at London, the industrial and coastal centers—laying these waste, converting England into a horrible mortuary lanced with destruction and flame?

These questions are on every tongue as this strange war moves in a fog of monotony on to a point where nearly everyone expects its silence to be blasted away by a sudden rush of bombs.

In seeking to answer such questions with a view to disclosing the probabilities, a military estimate of the entire situation must be made.

First, this must embrace consideration of the forces involved and their dispositions. In making such a reckoning all personal prejudices must be discarded. Every gain and loss of the opponents must be justly reckoned. Furthermore

Hitler, as well as any other heads of state, must be credited with the ability to employ his forces with maximum effect. Only in this way can the factual pattern be disclosed and deductions made to answer the one vital question—from the German viewpoint:

Will it pay Hitler to attempt a blitzkrieg against England?

That is the only question involved. From such an attack can Hitler hope to gain an advantage that will break the blockade of Germany, force an ending to the war?

LET US CONSIDER, first, the forces engaged and against which such an attack must be calculated to produce the effect of discouragement and terror required to bring an end to the fighting or an amelioration of the blockade, the German objectives.

TURKEY PRICE DROPS UNDER 1938 QUOTATIONS

Thanksgiving turkey will cost 25 cents a pound "on the hoof" this year, or from two to three cents below last year's prices. Prices on ducks, geese and chickens are about steady with last year.

Demand had kept the price steady although for a time it was believed the large crop would result in a much lower price for fowls.

Chickens for the holiday will cost 18 cents a pound and ducks and geese will range from 15 to 18 cents a pound. These prices are the same as those quoted a year ago.

Housewives will find the price on other items that make up the "trimmings" for the Thanksgiving feast are about steady with last year. Cranberries are down a little, while vegetables, fruits, oysters and greens are steady.

The department of agriculture reports the seasons crop of turkeys amounts to 32,000,000 birds. Texas, heaviest producer of turkeys, is celebrating two Thanksgivings, the one set by President Roosevelt and again on November 30.

For those who will have beef or pork on Thanksgiving, butchers report little change in the prices over those last year.

Failure To Renew Pact Will Pave Way For Measures
Aimed At Nipponese

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Japanese government will ask the United States to renew the U. S.-Japanese commercial treaty, expiring January 26, Ambassador Kenseke Horinouchi declared today.

He said in an interview that failure to replace the treaty with another commercial pact would be "distinctly disadvantageous to both countries." He stated the Japanese foreign ministry in Tokyo will take up the matter with American Ambassador Joseph Grew.

The American government, for reasons admitted as political, served the required six months notice for termination of the treaty in July. This action followed vigorous congressional protests at the increasing American exportation of scrap-iron, trucks and similar supplies to Japan, used in its un-

(Editor's note: Ambassador Grew used forthright phraseology in a Tokyo speech last month to bring home to a gathering of Japanese notables the resentment of Americans over the Japanese army's disregard of American rights in China. This resentment, he said, tended toward unanimity in the United States and constituted a force "which a government can not possibly overlook and will not fail to reflect in its policies and actions.") declared war against China, and the Japanese disregard of American rights in China.

Up to Japan

State department officials have indicated that any moves for renewal of the pact would have to come from Japan, and Horinouchi's words comprised the first reliable information in the capital that his government would formally seek renewal. In Washington officials denied that any discussions of a new pact have been held, but the Japanese diplomat said his government's foreign ministry informally brought up the subject in conversations with Grew about a month ago.

Horinouchi explained that he expected the Japanese foreign ministry in Tokyo to formally propose either renewal of the commercial treaty or substitution of a status quo "modus vivendi" or gentlemen's agreement for trade continuation in new conversations with Grew in the near future.

Troubles Aggravated

Japan's troubles in arranging a new treaty were aggravated by recent incidents reported at Tientsin in cables to the state department from the American Consul General there, John K. Caldwell. He reported that Japanese authorities were blocking transit of food.

DOZEN INDICTMENTS ARE RETURNED BY COUNTY GRAND JURY

The Pickaway County Grand Jury completed its session Tuesday morning after considering 16 cases in which it returned 12 indictments, three secret, and ignored four cases.

Jurors had hoped to complete their session Monday evening but three cases were carried over for consideration Tuesday morning.

Hugh Solt was foreman of the jury.

John F. Hyde, Chicago, was indicted on a charge of safebreaking. He is charged with breaking open the safe at the Pickaway County Farm Bureau on October 29 and obtaining $86.50. Hyde was seen in the building and was arrested shortly after leaving.

Felix Frank Jachim, Youngstown, was indicted on a charge of attempting to commit burglary. It is alleged he entered the offices at the Eshelman mill September 9. Jachim suffered a bullet wound in the leg when he attempted to escape from police.

Auto Theft Charged

William Hill, Hayward Avenue, was indicted on two charges of auto theft. He is alleged to have stolen the auto of Gilbert E. Hedges September 28 and the auto of Frank G. Hollenbeck September 30.

Howard McCafferty, East Mill Street, was indicted on a charge of stabbing with intent to wound. He is alleged to have stabbed Mrs. Lenora Dawson, also of East Mill Street, on November 6.

Pearl McWhorter, Orient Route 1, was indicted on a charge of stealing articles worth $23.39 on August 15 from Watson Griffith of near Derby.

Held For Tool Theft

Tony Grzelewski, Canton, and William Fox, Zanesville, were indicted on a charge of taking tools worth $200 from the Andrews Asphalt Paving Company, Hamilton, last October 13. The firm was contractor on the county rural electrification program.

An indictment charging non support was returned against Pearl Bush of Circleville.

Judge Meeker Terwilliger said the arraignment will be held Friday morning.

Cases ignored were Matthew Hutchinson and John Hickey, assault and battery; H. O. Brown, reckless driving, and Andrew Jacobs, issuing a worthless check.

TABER BEGINS NINTH YEAR AS GRANGE MASTER

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 21—Louis J. Taber, Columbus, Ohio, today began his ninth consecutive two-year term as Master of the National Grange. He was reelected yesterday at the 73rd national convention of the farm organization in Peoria.

Taber previously had expressed his desire to retire from the position, but yielded to the insistence of delegates that he again head the organization. Taber has been in the field of agriculture since he was 14 and head of the Grange since 1923.

Harry A. Caton, Coshocton, O., was re-elected secretary. Other officers named at the convention were David H. Agans, Three Bridges, N. J., reelected overseer; James C. Farmer, Keene, N. H., lecturer; J. J. Martin, Watertown, S. D., steward; Henry A. Stoddard, Belknap Falls, Vt., assistant steward; and F. A. Richardson, chaplain.

Germany, he wrote, can be guided only by military considerations in the conflict with Britain.

KUHN HEARING MOVES TOWARD JURY DECISION

Larceny Total Charged To Bund Chief Changes Swiftly Three Times

DEFENSE NEARING CLOSE

German Leader Is Not Expected To Testify In Own Behalf

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 — Probably more confused now than at any time in the two weeks it has run, the larceny and forgery trial of Fritz Kuhn lurches uncertainly toward a conclusion today containing all the component parts of a legal stew.

If any juror had firmly fixed in mind today the total of the larceny charged to Kuhn it was purely by accident. The figure changed three times in a half hour of the court session yesterday. For the further enlightenment of the jury the session produced these features:

1.—Inferences that Kuhn had contemplated divorcing his wife and marrying blonde Mrs. Florence Camp.

2.—Testimony that Kuhn had contemplated skipping to Mexico to avoid standing trial.

3.—The appearance of the prosecutor, Herman McCarthy, on the witness stand at the bidding of the defense with a side dish of horseplay in which McCarthy cross-examined himself and learned that

$7,000 Item Discussed

Testimony that a $7,000 item had been charged against Kuhn with no more evidence than the word of an assistant district attorney also interested the court.

Blattner identified the figure as the sum of a collection taken up at a Bund rally at Madison Square Garden. But he said that he got the figure from an assistant district attorney who told him that he got the figure from James Wheeler-Hill, secretary of the Bund.

Blattner admitted that he had not checked the figure with Wheeler-Hill nor had he found anything in the Bund records covering it.

"You were told that figure and you included it?" the court asked. Blattner admitted that he hadn't gone beyond the assistant district attorney for verification.

"Larceny" Wanes

Originally the larceny charged in the most tenaciously contested two counts of the indictment totaled $4,424.22. Then it was revised downward to $674. Yesterday Blattner started to move it back to the original figure on the basis of new evidence introduced—the dues sheets of the Bund—but they totaled only $2,800 so the figure finally was established by adding the $2,800 to the $674 and getting $3,474.

On the basis of that figure, the total larceny the state is now attempting to establish against Kuhn is $4,691. Originally it was $5,641.

MEASURES CURRENTS

IOWA CITY, Ia.,—Confetti and a camera are used in a new method of measuring direction and velocity of surface currents in river models through an invention of Prof. C. J. Posey of the University of Iowa Engineering College. Professor Posey explained he scattered confetti on the surface and took a time exposure. Motion of the confetti is shown as streaks on the photograph. Just before the end of the time exposure, the model is illuminated by a flash bulb, which puts a bright spot on the downstream end of each streak, showing the current's direction.

Lockbourne Masonic lodge has elected the following officers: Worshipful master, C. F. Eakin; senior warden, O. J. Ward; treasurer, Earl Gray; secretary, E. J. Smith; senior deacon, J. R. James; junior deacon, Wendell Russ, tyler, Harry Miller.

According to Merle Smith over at St. Paul, first assistant to Bill Duval in growing tons of fine golden pie pumpkins, they have a lot of fine ones in storage wet, sold, and to be delivered as needed to a Columbus restaurant. Didn't know for sure just how many acres would be used for next year's crop, but enough, he thought, to take care of the regular trade—couldn't quit now.

Sherman Hunt, employed for sometime at the Buckeye Steel Castings Company came in contact with some of the equipment there Saturday and was quite severely injured receiving a couple of broken ribs. He is in Mt. Carmel hospital.

The Ashville-Harrison joint board of education failed to hold a meeting Monday evening as scheduled because of the sickness of two of its members. The local members of this board which has to do with the high school, are Dr. C. J. Rockey and Peter Johnson. The Harrison members are Jesse Baum and Benford Millar. The Thanksgiving school vacation period extends from Wednesday evening until Monday.

PICTURE SHOW COUNTY TEST TO BE FEATURE AIDS SELECTED OF DEERE DAY BY McDOWELL

John Deere Day will be observed Friday at the new implement store of J. B. Work, 120 East Franklin Street.

The program will begin at 9:30 a. m. with machinery demonstrations. A lunch will be served to farmers at noon. In the afternoon a picture show will be given.

Pickaway County rural folk are due for a surprise when they visit the new implement store. The interior of the Kreisel building has been redecorated and Mr. Work has installed a complete line of farm machinery, stock room and shop.

The talking picture to be shown is "Joel Gentry in Hollywood." This picture was produced especially for farmers by the John Deere organization. The picture tells the story of Joel Gentry, a farm boy who wins $1,000 and a trip to Hollywood. Joel's experiences and why he went back to the farm is a story every farmer will enjoy.

In addition four other talking pictures will be shown. They include "Making Tractor History," an interesting picture on the development of the farm tractor; "Horses and Mules for Sale," a picture that points the way to the elimination of animal power on the farm; "A Short Cut Through Harvest," an educational feature on the ability of the combine to save time, hard work, grain and money, and a short newswreel "What's New in Farm Equipment."

George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, Tuesday announced appointment of a committee to assist him in conducting the general scholarship tests for high school seniors to be held March 30.

Members of the committee are J. Wray Henry, principal of Circleville High School; John A. Florence, superintendent of Washington Township School, and Ralph Francis, superintendent of Scioto Township School.

Mr. McDowell was appointed county chairman for the tests by Dr. Ray G. Wood, state director of scholarship tests.

$90 IN PAL'S VEST

NEW YORK.—Ninety dollars, missing a year, popped up recently neatly tucked in the vest pocket belonging to the loser's friend, Raymond Harvey, loser of the money, went ice skating last fall in Madison Square Garden with his friend Kenneth Mygatt. Harvey, getting ready to take a shower, tucked nine $10 bills into a vest in the locker he shared with Mygatt. The money turned up when Mygatt sent a suit he had stored away for a year to the cleaners.

KUHN HEARING MOVES TOWARD JURY DECISION

Larceny Total Charged To Bund Chief Changes Swiftly Three Times

DEFENSE NEARING CLOSE

German Leader Is Not Expected To Testify In Own Behalf

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 — Probably more confused now than at any time in the two weeks it has run, the larceny and forgery trial of Fritz Kuhn lurched uncertainly toward a conclusion today containing all the component parts of a legal stew.

If any juror had firmly fixed in mind today the total of the larceny charged to Kuhn it was purely by accident. The figure changed three times in a half hour of the court session yesterday. For the further enlightenment of the jury the session produced these figures:

1.—Inferential that Kuhn had contemplated divorcing his wife and marrying blonde Mrs. Florence Camp.

2.—Testimony that Kuhn had contemplated skipping to Mexico to avoid standing trial.

3.—The appearance of the prosecutor, Herman McCarthy, on the witness stand at the bidding of the defense with a side dish of horseplay in which McCarthy cross-examined himself and learned that

$7,000 Item Discussed

Testimony that a $7,000 item had been charged against Kuhn with no more evidence than the word of an assistant district attorney also interested the court.

Blattner identified the figure as the sum of a collection taken up at a Bund rally at Madison Square Garden. But he said that he got the figure from an assistant district attorney who told him that he got the figure from James Wheeler-Hill, secretary of the Bund.

Blattner admitted that he had not checked the figure with Wheeler-Hill nor had he found anything in the Bund records covering it.

"You were told that figure and you included it?" the court asked. Blattner admitted that he hadn't gone beyond the assistant district attorney for verification.

"Larceny" Warners

Originally the larceny charged in the most tenaciously contested two counts of the indictment totaled $4,424.22. Then it was revised downward to $674. Yesterday Blattner started to move it back to the original figure on the basis of new evidence introduced—the dues sheets of the Bund—but they totalled only $2,800 so the figure finally was established by adding the $2,800 to the $674 and getting $3,474.

On the basis of that figure, the total larceny the state is now attempting to establish against Kuhn is $4,691. Originally it was $5,641.

Judge Wallace announced before court adjourned that the

John Deere Film To Be Exhibited Friday

ARMY ATTITUDE IN CHINA CITED AS UNFRIENDLY

State Department Officials In Washington Hold Out Little Optimism

fuel and other commodities into the British and French concessions in Tientsin, where most members of the American colony reside.

Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles announced that American representatives have been instructed to reiterate to the Japanese this government's stand that such delays are illegal.

Caldwell's reports advised that loads of coal, peanuts and rugs had been unceremoniously dumped on the streets by Japanese authorities "for inspection" and that lengthy delays in delivery into the concessions were increasing.

Americans "Favored"

Horiuchi said he had not been advised of these incidents, but added that Americans were "permitted to pass very quickly" in and out of the concession. He said this was not the case with other nationals. He explained that probably the reason for "careful search of all supplies entering the concessions" was due to vigilance against smuggling of arms to Chinese residing in the concessions.

"The majority of residents of the concessions are Chinese," Horiuchi said, "and there is considerable anti-Japanese feeling there. We cannot but exert vigilance that they do not secure arms."

He denied that the Japanese were considering a broad non-aggression pact with the Soviet government, a development which would be inevitably taken into consideration in any conversations looking to renewal of the U. S.-Japanese pact. He said Soviet and Japanese conversations anent boundary, fishing, and oil concessions whether Japan would consider a non-aggression pact with Russia replied:

"Nothing like that."

Embargo Possible

Failure of the United States to renew the trade pact with Japan or a "modus vivendi" continuing trade relations as under the treaty, would open the way for possible congressional adoption of several pending measures calling for embargo against American exports to Nippon. Horiuchi admitted such steps would work adversely against Japan, but insisted that the United States would suffer too.

"We hope that a new treaty may be negotiated and ratified," he said. "It would be very disadvantageous to both governments—very disadvantageous—if such a treaty were not written, and if any embargo steps were taken by congress, it would be a very great impairment of trade, an impairment that would badly injure the United States and Japan."

Despite Horiuchi's observations, state department officials held out little optimism for renewal of the pact.

RED TAPE LACK CRITICISED BY STATE BUREAU

A finding for $108 against the township trustees and clerk is returned in the report of C. R. Acton, state examiner, in his examination of records of the township for the period from October 21, 1938 to September 20, 1939.

This finding is listed for purchase in March, 1939, of a used road grader. In addition the report instructs the township officials not to pay two notes of $108 each still due on the grader, sold on the basis of one third down, a third in a year, and the final payment in two years.

The report states the officials first should have obtained permission of the county commissioners, then made a levy with which to provide a sinking fund to pay interest and retire the notes, secure the approval of the payments by the county engineer and certify that the money has been appropriated and is in the treasury or in the process of collection.

Trustees are Harry Kern, Sherman Downs and William Snyder. J. M. Hatfield is clerk.

FINE SUSPENDED FOR SUNDAY TRAP SETTING

Australia: Including New Zealand, Fiji, Guiana and others.

This is a rough outline and far from complete of the great British empire embracing one-quarter of the world's area and about the same amount of its entire population. Of this far flung reach England is the temporal head of Dominion and Colonial governments, holding allegiance to the crown.

French Empire:

In Asia: Syria, French India and French Indo-China, population 23,618,000.

In Africa: Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, French West Africa and Sahara, Togo, Cameroons, French Equatorial Africa, Reunion, Madagascar, Comoro islands, French Somaliland, population 27,334,000.

In America: St. Pierre and Miquelon, Guadeloupe and others. Martinique, Inini and French Guiana, population 528,000.

IF HITLER BOMBED France, laying waste its towns and cities, assuming his air force could do so, the effect would be far more devastating than the same process would be if applied to England.

Most Frenchmen live in France and the colonies are an adjunct to national life.

With England it is different. Let us assume the worst, accepting that the superiority of Germany's air force is such that England can be bombed from one end to another, its cities laid waste, its population sent to huddle in cold underground retreats leaving above them streets filled with debris and the dead and dying.

What would be the effect of such a success upon Hitler's own situation? Would it win the war for him or break the blockade which is embarrassing Germany and, perhaps, can strangle her in time?

The answer must be "No."

In the last few years England hasn't gotten along any too well with her far-flung empire. Ireland is neutral in this war. India is lukewarm. So is South Africa.

Tanada and Australia, to date, have been far from exerting the efforts they made in the last war.

But if anything could be calculated to draw the British empire together in a burst of cold, determined rage, to the last of its resources, it would be a massed bombing of the heart of the empire—England. In every British colony or possession every energy would be devoted to building planes and bombs, training men to man them for a sort of legal lynching of Germany to pay for such a brutality.

ENGLAND CAN be bombed. The British empire can not. This puts, or seems to put, a blitzkrieg applied to English cities, towns and countryside as out of the question of military consideration.

Upon the other hand, there are legitimate objectives to be attained by air attack. I can be presumed that Hitler will move against these—primarily against the British navy, against docks, fortifications, air fields and munition dumps.

Yet if the force at hand was sufficient to destroy these it seems reasonable to imagine that the air attack against them would have been delivered in force before now.

Time is on the side of the Allies. With this country's resources, the rate of airplane building is

F. D. R. SEEKS TO AVOID INCREASE OF FEDERAL TAX

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—The White House today disclosed that President Roosevelt is undertaking a budget program for the next fiscal year designed to avoid any tax increase.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early told reporters that the executive was making every effort to bring about cuts in so-called normal expenses of the government to meet any increases in the national defense bill that Europe's war may entail.

Early said he had no figures at hand and declined to comment on a published story that the proposed budget would hold the 1940-41 deficit within $2,000,000,000.

Mr. Roosevelt's budget estimates for the current fiscal year which will not close until next June 30 was $3,266,000,000. Improved revenue outlook has led budget experts to believe that the deficit this year will be considerably less than estimated by the president, however.

fuel and other commodities into the British and French concessions in Tientsin, where most members of the American colony reside.

Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles announced that American representatives have been instructed to reiterate to the Japanese this government's stand that such delays are illegal.

Caldwell's reports advised that loads of coal, peanuts and rugs had been unceremoniously dumped on the streets by Japanese authorities "for inspection" and that lengthy delays in delivery into the concessions were increasing.

Americans "Favored"

Horinouchi said he had not been advised of these incidents, but added that Americans were "permitted to pass very quickly" in and out of the concession. He said this was not the case with other nationals. He explained that probably the reason for "careful search of all supplies entering the concessions" was due to vigilance against smuggling of arms to Chinese residing inside the concessions.

"The majority of residents of the concessions are Chinese," Horinouchi said, "and there is considerable anti-Japanese feeling there. We cannot but exert vigilance that they do not secure arms."

He denied that the Japanese were considering a broad non-aggression pact with the Soviet government, a development which would be inevitably taken into consideration in any conversations looking to renewal of the U. S.-Japanese pact. He said Soviet and Japanese conversations are at a non-aggression pact with Russia replied:

"Nothing like that."

Embargo Possible

Failure of the United States to renew the trade pact with Japan or a "modus vivendi" continuing trade relations as under the treaty, would open the way for possible congressional adoption of several pending measures calling for embargo against American exports to Japan. Horinouchi admitted such steps would work adversely against Japan, but insisted that the United States would suffer too.

"We hope that a new treaty may be negotiated and ratified," he said. "It would be very disadvantageous to both governments—very disadvantageous if such a treaty were not written, and if any embargo steps were taken by congress, it would be a very great impairment of trade, an impairment that would badly injure the United States and Japan."

Despite Horinouchi's observations, state department officials held out little optimism for renewal of the pact.

RED TAPE LACK CRITICISED BY STATE BUREAU

A finding for $108 against the township trustees and clerk is returned in the report of C. R. Acton, state examiner, in his examination of records of the township for the period from October 21, 1938 to September 20, 1939.

This finding is listed for purchase in March, 1939, of a used road grader. In addition the report instructs the township officials not to pay two notes of $108 each still due on the grader, sold on the basis of one third down, a third in a year, and the final payment in two years.

The report states the officials first should have obtained permission of the county commissioners, then made a levy with which to provide a sinking fund to pay interest and retire the notes, secure the approval of the payments by the county engineer and certify the money has been appropriated and is in the treasury or in the process of collection.

Trustees are Harry Kern, Sherman Downs and William Snyder. J. M. Hatfield is clerk.

FINE SUSPENDED FOR SUNDAY TRAP SETTING

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round
BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN.
McNUTT CONFERRED WITH F. D. R.
WASHINGTON—There was a lot more to that Roosevelt-McNutt conference than the handsome Indianan suavely admitted when he emerged from the White House.
What is secretly in the works is a drastic shake-up of the Social Security Board, wiping out the present bureaucratic three-man agency and either replacing it with a single director or putting the agency directly under the control of McNutt as Federal Security Administrator.
Either is possible under the act passed by Congress last spring giving the President the power of extensive government reorganization. The SS Board has been under fire from two powerful groups for some time. They are:
(1) New Deal insiders and congressional leaders, who are sore at Chairman Arthur Altmeyer for his dihard opposition to liberalizing old-age payments. Although vast sums in social security taxes are piling up in the Treasury, Altmeyer has grimly fought against amendments to increase monthly checks to oldsters. This, of course, has added fuel to the agitation of Townsendites and other "funny money" schemers.
(2) Administration executives who are up in arms over the high-handed bureaucracy which dominates the Social Security Board, and concerned over the discovery of millions of unidentifiable "John Doe" records in the SSB files.

REVOLTING STUDENTS
THE spirit of liberty is not dead in Central Europe. The Czechs of Bohemia and Moravia refuse to submit to tyranny. In Prague, the center of Bohemian culture, revolts break out over and over again.
The latest revolt is especially significant. It consisted almost entirely of college students. This was no mere student parade after the familiar American fashion. Those Czech boys and girls were shouting for "Liberty", and they meant it. They were arrested, to the number of 2,000, most of whom were kept in custody. Nine students paid immediately for their courage, with their lives. Now the Czech colleges are all "closed for three years" for a lesson to the rebels.
This is what comes of Hitler breaking his pledge of continued independence to the Czechs of Bohemia and Moravia when the Nazis seized the Sudetenland. But much may happen in three years. Before that time the Czechs may be liberated and the students may return to their studies.

"JOHN DOE" CARDS
With pension payments due to start January 1, these unidentified records are loaded with political dynamite, especially for McNutt, who is a red-hot presidential white hope. And no one knows it better than he.
Behind-the-scenes, McNutt has been vigorously prodding Altmeyer and his crew to clean up the chaotic records. Considerable progress has been made, but millions of cards—exactly how many is a matter of controversy—still are unidentified and will require many months and considerable expense to straighten out.
That the Altmeyer clique tried to block McNutt's appointment and is furious at his firm-handed scrutiny of its operations, has not helped to improve relations between them. On the surface they observe the amenities, but privately they are at daggers' points.
How soon the axe will descend depends on the report of an investigation that McNutt initiated several weeks ago. Inside word is that it is only a matter of time before the Board goes the way of the junked Bituminous Coal Commission. In

ARTISTIC TAPE
A RECENT photograph from Viborg, Finland, shows store windows covered with pictures made with stiff, straightlines. One window picture contains a lighthouse with long rays streaming from the top. There are clouds and birds in the sky. Another picture has a large tree, somewhat like a fir, with a house beneath, a fence, and again straight-line clouds in the sky.
These are not merely pictures. They are strips of tape put on the windows to prevent splintered glass from flying in case of bomb explosions. In taking the necessary precautions against possible military invasion, the Finns mingle art with common sense.
Such a people may be temporarily overpowered by superior force, but they have permanent qualities which cannot be conquered.

Memorizing the Vitamins
Is there any system for memorizing the vitamin content of foods?
Dr. Solomon Strouse, an eminent authority on dietetics, makes the very sensible remark, "It is really not necessary for the average human being, living a normal life without illness, to know more than the simple fact that a diet containing milk, fruits, a variety of vegetables, bread and butter, some meat and an egg or two daily will pretty well cover most of the fundamental nutritional requirements for proper living."
"Assuming that there is an available supply and sufficient funds with which to buy food, most people will not only eat enough but will choose wisely the foods needed for proper living."

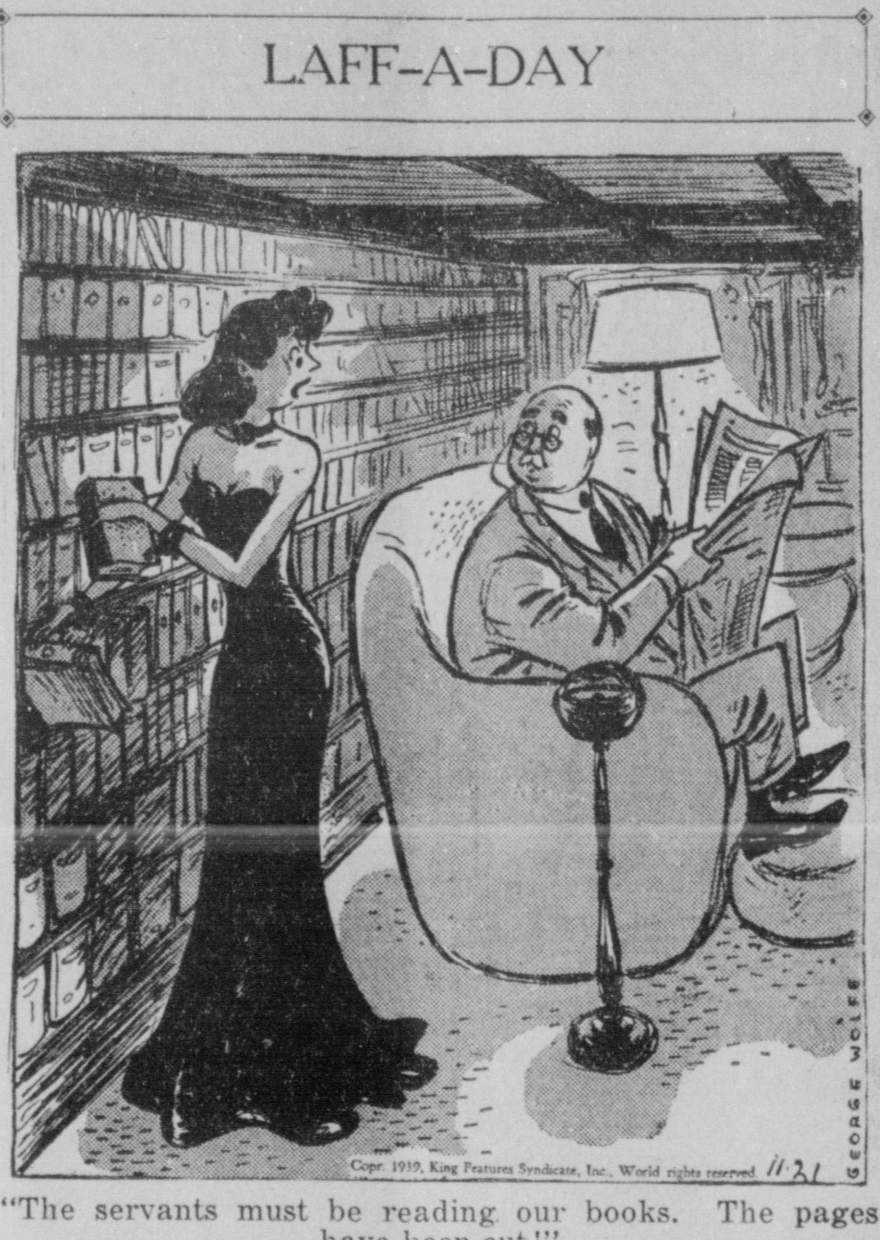

CIVILIZATION
DR. William Lyon Phelps, Yale professor emeritus and "Billy Phelps" to his disciples, has an unusual slant on history. "War is not history," he says, "but an interruption of history. It is the fine arts that are permanent and enhance civilization.
Napoleon and Hitler and their kind might not agree to that—especially Hitler. Learning and the fine arts seem to mean very little to him, even if he does profess to know about painting and drenches himself in Wagnerian music.
There are other things besides fine arts, no doubt, that "enhance civilization". Learning of many kinds, science and philosophy, engineering and medicine, and so on. But certainly war itself, in spite of the false glory usually attributed to military victories, is the opposite of civilization.

It is just too bad, the way Holland is browbeating Germany, and Finland is jumping onto Russia.
There is a tide in the affairs of men that will sweep even Stalin up on the beach some day, high and dry.

Up to find another rain falling, and not an unneeded one, either. Wheat can use that moisture. We all use wheat and had better be interested in its welfare. Glanced over the morning prints, finding nothing more interesting than a rehash of Saturday's football games and that thing they call war over in Europe. Civilization remains safe if that struggle gets no worse than it is. Our Sunday drivers kill as many folk each week as do the guns of the struggling armies.
Chatted with Wesley Justice who looked not too tired after four days of work that would have stunted any youth in the city. He is 74 years old, yet for four days in succession he picked up in the field and cribbed 120 bushels of corn. Anyone who thinks that is not real toil should try it sometime. Clarence Barnhart dropped into the office to discuss the school fund shortage for next year. Clarence has no idea how that $8,000 may be raised and, of course, I could give him no help. I know very little about sums of money that large. However, it does seem like chicken feed after reading the Washington news. The difference is that the folk here turn thumbs down on public expenditures because they know that they have to foot the bills. Our legislators turn thumbs up on public expenditures because they realize that most folk think that Uncle Sam's money and theirs are two different sums. But they are not. They all come out of the pocket of the taxpayer.

George Goodchild brought in a mess of his fine sausage and I hereby acknowledge him king of the ground meat flavorers. Never tasted anything like it. Always believed before that I disliked garlic. Probably that was because always there was too much of the vegetable. George knows how to use it and when to stop. Fine it was, that sausage. None better, ever.

DIET AND HEALTH
Role of Activity in Treating Sprains

WHAT is the modern treatment for sprained ankle?
Sprained ankle occurs as the result of a misstep so that the foot is either turned in or out. Sprained ankle means that no bones are broken but that the ligaments are torn or ruptured.
The first procedure is to make certain that it really is a sprain and that there is no dislocation or fracture. This, of course means an x-ray picture. The old saying that a sprain is worse than a fracture was due to the treatment that used to be employed. This consisted in putting the ankle in a plaster cast and keeping the foot immobile for a while. This was the custom when an English orthopedic surgeon discovered that his young patients who disobeyed his instructions and took off the casts and played tennis got well quicker than the more obedient ones.
Modern treatment has, therefore, adopted the suggestion that after strapping with adhesive tape, the patient is urged to get up and about as soon as possible. However, the foot should be kept at rest with hot applications for a day or two until the swelling subsides. The adhesive tape should probably be kept on for support for several weeks. Where economic circumstances permit, massage is advised in connection with exercise.
The parts concerned are:
1. The transmitter, which converts sound energy of the speaker's voice into electrical energy.
2. The receiver, which converts electrical energy back into sound energy.
3. The line, which connects the transmitter to the receiver.
4. The batteries, which supply the electrical energy to be regulated or "triggered" by the transmitter.
5. The amplifier, which increases the amount of the type of electric energy which will produce sound, at the expense of electrical energy from a battery. The amplifier is a recent addition to the hearing aid.
EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks Reducing Diet", "Indigestion and Constipation", "Reducing and Gaining", "Infant Feeding", "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes", "Domestic Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin".

Mechanical Hearings Aids
What are the best hearing aids?
The best modern hearing aids are unquestionably the electrical bone conduction amplifier. Its advantages are its unobtrusiveness and compactness, and the fact that it embodies the advantages of bone conduction instead of trying to force sound through the ankylotized ear ossicles. The parts concerned are:
1. The transmitter, which converts sound energy of the speaker's voice into electrical energy.
2. The receiver, which converts electrical energy back into sound energy.
3. The line, which connects the transmitter to the receiver.
4. The batteries, which supply the electrical energy to be regulated or "triggered" by the transmitter.
5. The amplifier, which increases the amount of the type of electric energy which will produce sound, at the expense of electrical energy from a battery. The amplifier is a recent addition to the hearing aid.

"TELL BILL GOODBYE"
By Marie Blizard

SYNOPSIS
THE CHARACTERS:
FABIENNE SEYMOUR, rich, young and beautiful.
NICKY BARTLETT, wealthy and in love with Fabienne.
YESTERDAY: More out of curiosity than anything else, Fabienne goes to Willoughby house with Nicky.

CHAPTER FOUR
"THIS IS the room where we hold our evening reading classes for men," or "This is our nursery. Working mothers, you know, leave their children here during the day. The children are in the dormitories now having their morning nap period. I'll take you there," Ellen Chapman chatted animatedly in that soft, sweet voice of hers and led the way in and out of rooms that were sparsely but cleanly furnished.
"Not the children's dormitories, please," Fabienne said firmly. For more than half an hour she had been listening to statistics, accomplishments, programs and plans, and she had had enough.
Strangely, she felt that this slim, small girl who was director of this organization had grown in stature. Actually, for half an hour, Fabienne had not even considered that the girl's dress was of a kind that she wouldn't even have given her maid. Fabienne had been interested in those foreign statistics. And she didn't like it. That was going too far. The presumption of this other girl to assume that she, Fabienne Willoughby Seymour, who had been rightful heir to the very walls that obviously belonged to "our people" would be glad to know what her great grandfather's money was doing! Whereas if she had inherited it herself—
"And now," Miss Chapman was saying as they stood at the closed door of a small room on the first floor, I shall show you our memorial to Mr. Willoughby's mother."
Opening the door, she said, "It's rather dark in here. All the better, because I want you to see the proper lighting effect."
She touched a wall light and a soft, golden glow spread out from beneath the lamp above a life-size oil portrait that hung at one side of the room.
Fabienne looked at it with mild interest, recognizing the talent of the painter rather than the subject. Then she became aware that she had once before seen the same grave face that looked down upon her in a kindly way. And the brooch that pinned a soft fishu across the throat in the portrait—it could be no other than the one that Gertrude had had set into a clip for Fabienne's twenty-first birthday.
"So this is my great-great grandmother?" she found herself saying. "I once saw this photograph. I didn't know there was an oil of her."
"It was copied from the photograph," Miss Chapman told her. "Rather good, don't you think? It was done by Raffelli."
"Raffelli," the portrait man who had the show a month ago?" Fabienne asked, unbelievably. The great Raffelli!
Ellen held the door open for Fabienne to pass through. She nodded an answer to Fabienne's question and explained "He was one of our boys only ten years ago. In fact, he learned to paint, at first, in one of our classes. That was before my time, but we've lots of other talent in our boys and girls and I hope that some of them will grow up to be great, too," she said with modest pride, as if she were the mother of those boys and girls.
"I'm sure they will," Fabienne said politely.
"We've taken children here from the lowest kinds of backgrounds and had them turn out the best. It's worth that interesting."
"Yes, isn't it?" murmured Fabienne. "Tell me what you know to a past favor that you have done for others."
Today's Horoscope
Those whose birthday is today, if young, will experience romance which will bring much domestic happiness in the next 12 months. There is a tendency to extravagance indicated, possibly aggravated by the circumstances. It should be checked. A child born on this date will be unduly apprehensive of the future, and quite unnecessarily, as much good fortune is promised. Success in government work and along charitable lines is promised.

Panama Canal Subject Of Monday Club Meet

Lucile Neuding Reads Paper At Session

Social Calendar

Miss Lucille Neuding read a paper on "A Great Adventure with Nature and a Dream of Four Centuries, The Panama Canal" at the meeting of Monday Club, Monday in the club room, East Main Street. Mrs. Ray Davis, president, was in the chair for the business session.

Literature was the study and in the absence of Mrs. Loren Lutz, chairman of the division, Mrs. Paul Johnson presented the program.

In a geographical introduction Miss Neuding said: "One hundred thousand years ago when the Gulf of Mexico extended up the Mississippi valley to the mouth of the Ohio, and the ice sheet covered New York, there was no need of digging a Panama Canal for there was no Isthmus of Panama. Instead, a broad strait separated South and Central America and connected the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

"This was the strait for which the early navigators were to hunt in vain, for long before their time it had been filled up, mainly by the lava poured into it by volcanoes on its bank."

Miss Neuding continued by saying that geographically Panama is the connecting link between South and Central America and politically, it lies between the Republic of Costa Rica and the United States of Columbia of which it once was a part. She gave an interesting description of the size and position of Panama.

The history of the Panama Canal begins with the search for a western waterway to the Indies and for fame and gold by those hardy adventurers who followed in the wake of Columbus. As this narrow strip of land was found to connect to great continents and to separate the two oceans, building of crude roads for the early mule trains and the construction of a railroad later, led to the building of a ship canal.

Miss Neuding said that this project attracted the attention of the civilized world and was the subject of many surveys, but none was thorough prior to the one made by the Isthmian Canal Commission in 1890.

From 1750 to 1847 trade across the isthmus was at a stand still, but in 1849 the isthmus again came to life with the steady flow of emigrants bound for California where gold had been discovered.

She told of the forming of many companies down through the years to build roads, canals and railroads across the isthmus and of the great difficulties encountered, one of the greatest hazards being yellow fever.

All these mistakes served as warning signals to the Americans of the Isthmian Canal Commission that was organized for the construction of the canal.

In 1903 a treaty was signed by the Republic of Panama, the United States being granted in perpetuity the strip of land known as the Canal Zone.

"The key of the whole Panama Canal is Gatun Dam," said Miss Neuding, "that great mass of earth that makes the central portion of the canal a great navigable lake with its surface 85 feet above sea level and renders practicable the operation of a lock type of canal across the isthmus.

"Around no other structure of engineering did the waves of controversy rage so furiously as they raged for seven years around Gatun Dam. It is the greatest trophy of the triumph of man over the terrestrial arrangement of this world.

"Now stretches a man-made canyon across the backbone of the continent, now lies a channel for ships through the barrier, now is found what Columbus sought in vain, the gate through the West to the East. Men call it Culebra Cut. It is majestic; it is awful; it is the canal.

"The eighth wonder of the world, doubtless for centuries to come the world wonder of the Panama Canal will be told in story and picture; but the eloquence of the theme itself will never be exhausted while reverence for mighty deeds finds lodgment in the hearts of men."

Sorosis Club Meets

Twenty-six members and three guests attended the Monday session of the Sorosis club at the home of Mrs. William Schleich, near Williamsport. The guests included Mrs. Thomas McKinley and Mrs. Howard Miller of Darbyville and Mrs. Van Meter Hulse of Jackson Township.

There were two program leaders for the evening, Mrs. William Dunlap, and Mrs. William D. Radcliff.

Mrs. Dunlap's interesting discussion pertained to "Modern Trends in Dress". It dealt with color in dresses and discussed proper accessories. Black and brown were the colors she mentioned in her talk with moss green the season's most popular accessory color. She told of the many delightful ways of dressing up a costume with the colorful jewelry now popular and mentioned especially the use of the bib necklaces. She continued her style talk with remarks on fur coats, muffs and hats, drawing attention to the influence the war has had on the military styles in hats. Most of the appeal in the season's dresses comes from the intricate drapery, which is the high style feature. She also expressed the opinion that Paris would always be the style center.

Her part of the program was concluded with a contest with Miss Helen West as model. Prizes were won by Miss Dorothy Jackson and Miss Wanda McNeal.

Mrs. Radcliff devoted her time to the discussion of "Improving your Personality", mentioning in the first of her talk that she had found much of her material in "It's Nice to Know People Like You", by Harry Walker Hepner.

She stated that personality is what you do when you are with others, or the quality of being personal. She urged for sincerity in contacts with people, especially if giving compliments. She said that we should only talk to persons on subjects in which they were interested. A timely question may always be used when conversation lags. A change in surroundings and occasional vacations will improve our personalities.

In the absence of Mrs. Howard Nessel, president, Mrs. S. B. Metzger presided during the business session. Miss Carolyn Bochar, secretary, called the roll and read the minutes of the last session. She also read the report of the treasurer, Mrs. Ansel Dreisbach, who was not present. It was decided to have an exchange of Christmas gifts, limited in cost to 10 cents, at the next session.

During the social hour, refreshments were served by Mrs. Schleich, assisted by Mrs. William D. Heskell and Mrs. Wendell Boyer.

Mrs. Charles Schleich will be hostess at the next meeting Monday, December 18.

HAVE YOU heard about the wonderful dye-magic which is going on in American dressmaking circles? At one time, when a great dressmaker across the ocean introduced a new color, we were left holding the bag to match it over here. Nowadays our American dyers can match the color perfectly, and we can all be a la mode in the latest color from abroad without having to pay duty on imported fabrics to get it.

The lovely basic frock shown today is a copy of a foreign design, both in its tucked detail and its blue-gray shade, but it is an all-American outfit. The moulded waistline will flatter the average figure roundly, and make a great show of a waistline being disciplined by the new hour-glass corset. Panama Canal Subject Of Monday Club Meet

Lucile Neuding Reads Paper At Session

Social Calendar

Miss Lucile Neuding read a paper on "A Great Adventure with Nature and a Dream of Four Centuries, The Panama Canal" at the meeting of Monday Club, Monday in the club room, East Main Street. Mrs. Ray Davis, president, was in the chair for the business session.

Literature was the study and in the absence of Mrs. Loren Lutz, chairman of the division, Mrs. Paul Johnson presented the program.

In a geographical introduction Miss Neuding said: "One hundred thousand years ago when the Gulf of Mexico extended up the Mississippi valley to the mouth of the Ohio, and the ice sheet covered New York, there was no need of digging a Panama Canal for there was no Isthmus of Panama. Instead, a broad strait separated South and Central America and connected the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans."

"This was the strait for which the early navigators were to hunt in vain, for long before their time it had been filled up, mainly by the lava poured into it by volcanoes on its bank."

Miss Neuding continued by saying that geographically Panama is the connecting link between South and Central America and politically, it lies between the Republic of Costa Rica and the United States of Columbia of which it once was a part. She gave an interesting description of the size and position of Panama.

The history of the Panama Canal begins with the search for a western waterway to the Indies and for fame and gold by those hardy adventurers who followed in the wake of Columbus. As this narrow strip of land was found to connect to great continents and to separate the two oceans, building of crude roads for the early mule trains and the construction of a railroad later, led to the building of a ship canal.

Miss Neuding said that this project attracted the attention of the civilized world and was the subject of many surveys, but none was thorough prior to the one made by the Isthmian Canal Commission in 1890.

From 1750 to 1847 trade across the isthmus was at a stand still, but in 1849 the isthmus again came to life with the steady flow of emigrants bound for California where gold had been discovered.

She told of the forming of many companies down through the years to build roads, canals and railroads across the isthmus and of the great difficulties encountered, one of the greatest hazards being yellow fever.

All these mistakes served as warning signals to the Americans of the Isthmian Canal Commission that was organized for the construction of the canal.

In 1903 a treaty was signed by the Republic of Panama, the United States being granted in perpetuity the strip of land known as the Canal Zone.

"The key of the whole Panama Canal is Gatun Dam," said Miss Neuding, "that great mass of earth that makes the central portion of the canal a great navigable lake with its surface 85 feet above sea level and renders practicable the operation of a lock type of canal across the isthmus."

"Around no other structure of engineering did the waves of controversy rage so furiously as they raged for seven years around Gatun Dam. It is the greatest trophy of the triumph of man over the terrestrial arrangement of this world."

"Now stretches a man-made canyon across the backbone of the continent, now lies a channel for ships through the barrier, now is found what Columbus sought in vain, the gate through the West to the East. Men call it Culebra Cut. It is majestic; it is awful; it is the canal."

The eighth wonder of the world, doubtless for centuries to come the world wonder of the Panama Canal will be told in story and picture; but the eloquence of the theme itself will never be exhausted while reverence for mighty deeds finds lodgment in the hearts of men."

Sorosis Club Meets

Twenty-six members and three guests attended the Monday session of the Sorosis club at the home of Mrs. William Schleich, near Williamsport. The guests included Mrs. Thomas McKinley and Mrs. Howard Miller of Darbyville and Mrs. Van Meter Hulse of Jackson Township.

There were two program leaders for the evening, Mrs. William Dunlap, and Mrs. William D. Radcliff. Mrs. Dunlap's interesting discussion pertained to "Modern Trends in Dress". It dealt with color in dresses and discussed proper accessories. Black and brown were the colors she mentioned in her talk with moss green the season's most popular accessory color. She told of the many delightful ways of dressing up a costume with the colorful jewelry now popular and mentioned especially the use of the bib necklaces. She continued her style talk with remarks on fur coats, muffs and hats, drawing attention to the influence the war has had on the military styles in hats. Most of the appeal in the season's dresses comes from the intricate drapery, which is the high style feature. She also expressed the opinion that Paris would always be the style center.

Her part of the program was concluded with a contest with Miss Helen West as model. Prizes were won by Miss Dorothy Jackson and Miss Waneta McNeal.

Mrs. Radcliff devoted her time to the discussion of "Improving your Personality", mentioning in the first of her talk that she had found much of her material in "It's Nice to Know People Like You", by Harry Walker Hepner.

She stated that personality is what you do when you are with others, or the quality of being personal. She urged for sincerity in contacts with people, especially if giving compliments. She said that we should only talk to persons on subjects in which they were interested. A timely question may always be used when conversation lags. A change in surroundings and occasional vacations will improve our personalities.

In the absence of Mrs. Howard Nessell, president, Mrs. S. B. Metzger presided during the business session. Miss Carolyn Bochard, secretary, called the roll and read the minutes of the last session. She also read the report of the treasurer, Mrs. Ansel Dreisbach, who was not present. It was decided to have an exchange of Christmas gifts, limited in cost to 10 cents, at the next session.

During the social hour, refreshments were served by Mrs. Schleich, assisted by Mrs. William D. Heiskell and Mrs. Wendell Boyer.

Mrs. Charles Schleich will be hostess at the next meeting Monday, December 18.

ROAST Stuffed Spareribs—Ingredients: two sections spareribs, one cup bread crumbs, one-half cup chopped celery, one chopped onion, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one-eighth teaspoon paprika, two tablespoons bacon fat, one-fourth to one-half cup water. Select a whole sparerib or part of two, so that one part can be laid over the other. Rub with salt and pepper, and spread one piece with bread stuffing, made as follows: Brown onion lightly in bacon fat, add to bread crumbs, celery, salt, pepper and paprika. Moisten with meat stock or water and mix thoroughly. Sover with remaining section of spareribs and sew two together. Dredge outside with flour and put on rack in open roasting pan in hot oven (450 F.) for 20 minutes, then reduce oven temperature to 300 F. and continue to cook for about an hour longer, or until meat is tender.

Cranberry Marshmallow Salad—Ingredients: one quart cranberries, one cup water, one cup sugar, 16 marshmallows, cut in halves; two tablespoons lemon juice, one-half cup celery, cut fine; one-fourth cup broken walnut meats. Wash and pick over cranberries, add water and boil until berries burst. Remove from fire and add marshmallows, folding over and over until they are partially melted. Set aside to cool, then add lemon juice, chopped celery and nut meats. Pour into individual molds and place in refrigerator or other cold place. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce and serve with mayonnaise. This amount will serve seven or eight.

KINGSTON
The World's Friendship Circle of the Presbyterian Church, met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Cryder with Mrs. Donald E. Whitel and Mrs. Edgar Hasenpflug assisting hostesses. Mrs. Alice Riegel, president, presided and Mrs. Frank L. Haynes was in charge of the devotional. Mrs. D. N. Famulener acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. R. E. Lightner and read the minutes, which were approved as read. During the business session, the class voted to buy the Christmas candy for the Sunday school. They planned a Christmas party to be held December 11, at the home of Miss Josephine Brundige. It will be a cooperative dinner. The following program was presented: Musical saw solo accompanied by Mrs. N. F. Bond, who also accompanied Mrs. Lloyd Evans, who sang "Diane" and "South of the Border." Mrs. Famulener played a group of Thanksgiving hymns. Contests were the diversion during the social hour. Angel food cake, ice cream with butterscotch nut dressing, coffee and candy were served the 20 members and visitors present.

The Parent-Teachers Association met Thursday evening in the auditorium of the High School with about 100 present. Miss Betty Davis was in charge of the devotional with the assistance of high school quartet and the grade schools. The minutes of last meeting were read by the secretary, Miss Elizabeth Black, and approved by the association. The organization has taken over the Red Cross roll call for Green Township. W. R. Sheridan is chairman and was present with instructions for the group. The December meeting will be held in North Union Township grade school. Bradley Keeping Eye On Next Kentucky Derby

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 — Old-timers who have been following the fortunes of Col. E. R. Bradley since that venerable sportsman first became a turf figure, over that Bimelech appears the best thorough bred he has ever owned. While that may be taking in a lot of territory since the son of Black Helen has seen only one season of campaigning, this superlative summation can aptly apply to the colt as a two-year-old. Without question, he is Bradley's best juvenile production if not the best to visit the turf in a long, long time from any establishment.

No other youngster has displayed the sharp zip and calibre of the Bradley star. So far does Bimelech stand out among this year's juvenile crop that it is virtually impossible to state which was next best to him.

Milledale Stable's Andy K. showed signs earlier this year of making it a hot battle, but flattened out in later contests although he is credited with giving Bimelech the hardest tussle of the year in the Hopeful Stakes at Saratoga. Bimelech just got up to a neck decision that rich contest after trailing earlier, but he was off to a very poor start and the manner in which he recovered added to the greater glory of his triumph.

If ever a horse appeared an antidote for jinxes, Bimelech is the one. Already he has dispatched one jinx when he captured the Belmont Futurity to make it Bradley's first win in that event in three decades of trying. Years of frustration made a hoped for victory in that number closer to the heart of the Colonel and his hopes were finally realized when Bimelech came home the easiest kind of a winner.

Confronting Bradley now is another kind of a mystic scarecrow—that pertaining to the Kentucky Derby, which has never been won by a Futurity winner. But with the Bradley Futurity jinx now smashed through Bimelech's efforts the good Colonel is looking forward to laying the ghost of the other, and seemingly more potent one. Bimelech may be the first Belmont Futurity winner ever to accomplish the feat.

That, at any rate, is the fond hope entertained in the Bradley camp—a camp to which Kentucky Derbys are more familiar than any other in the land since it already has produced four winners of the Louisville classic.

Behave Yourself was the first of this quartet when he nipped his

CAGERS REPORT TO BLACK FOR STIFF SEASON

Thirty Youths Make Up Squad To Represent Circleville High

Thirty Circleville High School athletes, including five lettermen, reported Monday evening to Coach Roy M. Black to begin preparation for probably the most difficult basketball season the Tiger squad has undertaken in a decade.

The squad was expected to be augmented by addition of four or five other hopefuls at Tuesday afternoon's practice.

Included among the veterans who reported were Harold Smith, Whitey Davis and Joe Staley, who made letters last year at forwards; Paul Walters, a forward and center last year, and Bob Bowsher, a guard. Possibility appeared Monday evening that Staley would be moved back to a guard spot to take over the position filled so capably last winter by Warren Bumgarner, chosen as honorary captain of the 1938-39 team. Staley's speed, ball handling ability and ruggedness should make him a capable running mate for Bowsher.

Numerous other athletes who comprised the reserve and freshman teams last year are expected to make good showings.

Five Lettermen

With the five returning lettermen expected to clinch first team positions, the big scramble is for the five remaining spots on the first squad. According to South Central Ohio League rules each school must carry 10 varsity men and none of the 10 is permitted to engage in a preliminary.

The Tigers have much work to do before their opening game on December 1 at Amanda. The Fairfield County crew, which represented the Central District in the state tournament last spring, has lost only one of its regulars and is expected to provide a real test for the Red and Black varsity. Paced by the sterling guard, Wayne Hiatt, Amanda is looking toward another Central District Class B title.

The Tigers will play Greenfield, Washington C. H., Wilmington and Hillsboro each twice, these schools being included with Circleville in the South Central Ohio League. Other schools on the schedule will be Ashville, Hillsides, Upper Arlington, Lancaster, Chillicothe, Clarksburg, Troy and Columbus Holy Rosary.

To Stress Speed

Coach Black intends to stress speed this year in both offensive and defensive setups and conditioning will mean much to the squad. A large portion of the boys working out Monday evening were members of the football squad, and all are in pretty good condition.

The squad boys were signing a Constitution, Tuesday, a suggestion of Bob Bowsher. The Constitution will declare that all boys will refrain from smoking, will not have "dates" during the week, and will attend practice regularly. Any youth who violates the agreement after signing it will be disciplined by the remainder of the squad.

Games scheduled for Wednesday night are Salt Creek and Deer Creek at Salt Creek. Pickaway and New Holland at Pickaway and Perry and Monroe at Monroe. The county school department said the schedule was tentative as last minute changes may be made in the games.

Stoutsville at Walnut, Washington playing Scioto at Scioto and Jackson playing Darby at Darby. The Walnut-Stoutsville game is not a league game.

CIRCLEVILLE GUARDSMEN CALLED TO SPECIAL TRAINING SESSIONS

ARMY TRAINING PERIODS CAST FOR FIVE DAYS

Local Units To Be Quartered At State University And Athens

MEDICS TO HEAR LECTURES

Service Battery Men Will Increase Efficiency In Supply Service

Sixty-three Circleville men, members of the National Guard, will leave the city Wednesday to participate in special training sessions in Columbus and Athens. The training period lasts five days.

Members of the Service Battery, 136 Field Artillery, will go to Athens. Lieutenant Joseph Lynch, executive officer of the Service Battery, announced the troops will report in the Armory at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday to load supplies and receive last minute instructions. They will start for Athens at 2 a. m. Approximately 800 guardsmen will be stationed in Athens during the training period. It is the duty of the service battery to provide the troops with all necessary supplies. There are 42 Circleville men in the Service Battery.

The two officers and 18 men of the Medical Detachment, Special Troops, 37th Division, will leave at 10 a. m. Wednesday for their training period at the army of Ohio State University. They will be stationed in heated buildings. The men will report at 6:30 a. m. to receive equipment and make preparations for their trip. Staff Sergeant Rockford Brown said the troops will attend lectures on first aid work and technicalities and the establishment of first aid stations.

Col. Harry D. Jackson of the 112th Medical Regiment, will be stationed at the fairgrounds in Columbus during the training period.

Previous high recruiting records are being maintained in Ohio according to Major General Daniel Van Voorhis, commanding general Fifth Corps Area, who stated Tuesday that 377 Ohioans had enlisted since November 1, when the War Department made a new recruiting allotment under the president's limited emergency proclamation for expansion of the Army.

The new quota calls for enlistment of 3653 men by December 31, and to date, 1113 men have accepted. Quotas for the quarter-master corps at Erie ordnance depot, La. Carne, O., and air corps at Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La., already have been filled. Substantial progress is being made with the 29 other reservations for foreign service and stations in the United States given to the Fifth Corps Area.

BAGS BURRO
HOOD RIVER, Ore.—One hunting trophy that won't occupy a conspicuous spot in the household of Jack Huff is the pet burro that was the sole kill of his deer hunting expedition in the Hood River valley. Huff, who claimed he had left his glasses at home, sighted two objects which looked like deer grazing on the mountain side. They were Eldon Bradley and his pet burro, taken along to carry supplies on a hunting trip. Huff blazed away at them. The burro was killed and its owner escaped injury.

EDUCATORS AND OFFICIALS WILL DISCUSS TAXES

Representatives of the city, Circleville Township and the Circleville Board of Education will meet Wednesday at 9 a. m. with the Pickaway County Budget Commission to discuss Circleville's real estate tax rate.

The rate, tentatively established at $15.40 per $1,000 in property valuation must be reduced to $14.80 to comply with a ruling from the state tax commission with the reduction to be taken in funds for city schools.

Forrest Short, county auditor and a member of the budget commission, said the new rate does not meet the approval of the board of education. Mr. Short said the levy for schools cannot be increased unless either the township or city takes a reduction.

PICTURE STRIKE THREATS HELD IN ABEYANCE

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 21—Threats of a strike of 35,000 film workers were held in abeyance in Hollywood today under a truce producers and union representatives declared had been effected.

The strike was to have been called yesterday when the producers failed to yield to the demand of studio workers affiliated with the American Federation of Labor for a wage increase of ten percent. But shortly after expiration of the deadline fixed by the unions, an armistice statement was issued in which it was announced the negotiations had been postponed until Nov. 24.

HUNTING AREA TO BE CLOSED

The Pickaway Township supervised hunting area, comprising the Ruggles farm and a number of other farms, will be closed to hunting Wednesday for the rest of the season. Only land owners and tenants will be permitted to hunt on Thanksgiving.

C. E. Webb, game management agent, explained the area is being closed to preserve brood stock. By permitting some brood stock to remain on the farms and with some restocking, good hunting will be insured for next year, he explained.

Night hunting will be prohibited on the area this year. The area recently was restocked with raccoon.

The supervised hunting program has met with the approval of both hunters and farmers, he said. Hunters reported good result and not a single complaint was received by the game management agent from any farmer.

Service Battery Men Will Increase Efficiency In Supply Service

Sixty-three Circleville men, members of the National Guard, will leave the city Wednesday to participate in special training sessions in Columbus and Athens. The training period lasts five days.

Members of the Service Battery, 136 Field Artillery, will go to Athens. Lieutenant Joseph Lynch, executive officer of the Service Battery, announced the troops will report in the Armory at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday to load supplies and receive last minute instructions. They will start for Athens at 2 a. m. Approximately 800 guardsmen will be stationed in Athens during the training period. It is the duty of the service battery to provide the troops with all necessary supplies. There are 42 Circleville men in the Service Battery.

The two officers and 18 men of the Medical Detachment, Special Troops, 37th Division, will leave at 10 a. m. Wednesday for their training period at the armory of Ohio State University. They will be stationed in heated buildings. The men will report at 6:30 a. m. to receive equipment and make preparations for their trip. Staff Sergeant Rockford Brown said the troops will attend lectures on first aid work and technicalities and the establishment of first aid stations.

Col. Harry D. Jackson of the 112th Medical Regiment, will be stationed at the fairgrounds in Columbus during the training period.

Previous high recruiting records are being maintained in Ohio according to Major General Daniel Van Voorhis, commanding general Fifth Corps Area, who stated Tuesday that 377 Ohioans had enlisted since November 1, when the War Department made a new recruiting allotment under the president's limited emergency proclamation for expansion of the Army.

BAGS BURRO

HOOD RIVER, Ore.—One hunting trophy that won't occupy a conspicuous spot in the household of Jack Huff is the pet burro that was the sole kill of his deer hunting expedition in the Hood River valley. Huff, who claimed he had left his glasses at home, sighted two objects which looked like deer grazing on the mountain side. They were Eldon Bradley and his pet burro, taken along to carry supplies on a hunting trip. Huff blazed away at them. The burro was killed and its owner escaped injury.
